

Laurier gambled on a 'ghost town' — and won Waterloo Record The private sector has followed the post-secondary institutions, spending $34 million on developments in the past decade, building student residences, a public plaza and new businesses. Students are everywhere, too, walking the streets, lounging ... By ...

Leer más: Plaza Satellite: Google Noticias